

There are many benefits of membership in TMS. Some of the obvious ones are the great discounts on publications, continuing education, and events. But there are many more intangible ones as well. The attached list shows some reasons why people have joined TMS, but it certainly is not all inclusive. Feel free to add your own reasons to the list.

Why Join TMS?

- Great networking opportunities with knowledgeable people; opportunity to expand your clientele
- TMS members are a great group of people; easy to work with; passionate about masonry
- TMS offers opportunities to contribute to/be a part of masonry code development
- There are a combination of technical committees, code committees, and organizational committees that allow for a broad opportunity to become involved, even as a new member
- You get to know the experts in the field personally, and they become a great resource
- We don't take ourselves too seriously - we like to have fun (game nights, trivia contest, beer and pizza, etc)
- TMS is the professional society for masonry
- If you design masonry buildings or work in the masonry industry, you should know what is going on, and TMS is the place to find out
- To better support your clients
- To educate yourself
- For the leadership opportunities and professional recognition
